

All species (except for fire salamanders) from Europe were included in these analyses.