

All species in the dataset and all observations from both continents were retained in these analyses.